

Guide to...

Teacher Education

1. Quick Search for books, e-books and other materials.

The Library website Quick Search enables searching a wide variety of resources, such as books, e-books, journal articles and newspapers.

It is advisable to log in with your University Login username and password before searching as this will allow easy access to all materials. Login to the Library can be found on the right of the library website home page at www.libweb.anglia.ac.uk.

Type the subject or title you are looking for into the Find results with box. You can also select which materials you wish to search for by clicking on the tick boxes next to each option. Selecting Journal articles, research papers etc will search general academic databases and display results for journal articles in a separate tab.

For example, if you wish to find a copy of 'The Good Study Guide by Andrew Northedge', type the title of the book into the search box and click on 'Go'.

The results list for the Books, etc. tab will show all items relating to the subject or title entered.

Click on the title of the book to find out more details about it. Note where it can be found on the shelves, at which sites and how many copies are currently in stock.

You can also reserve items currently on loan from this screen.

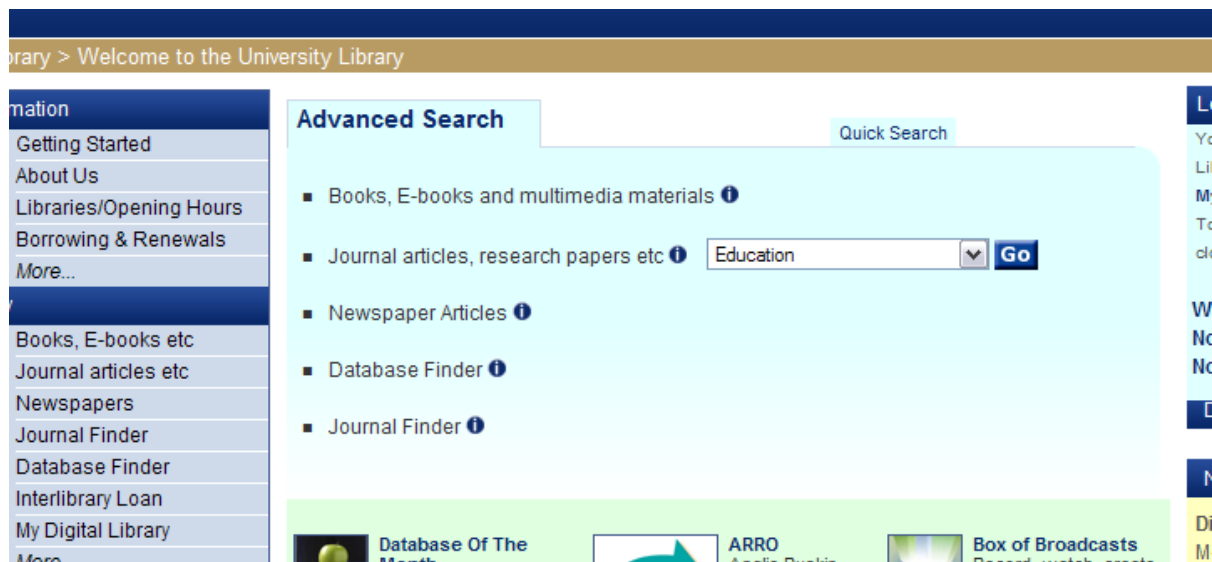

Electronic copies of books (e-books) can also be accessed from the Quick Search screen. The Library has an increasing number of books available in this format.

To narrow down your search to e-books only, select e-books from the Limit To option. You will need to log in before accessing e-books.

2. Advanced Search for journal articles and web resources.

The Library web site Advanced Search for Education offers more subject specialist sources such as academic journal databases and other resources focused on professional practice and teacher education.

Login to the Library website and click on the Advanced Search tab in the centre of the screen; select 'Education' from the Choose Subject box. You can then focus on a category and search recommended resources.

3. Journals

Journals provide up to date information on developments and research in Education. The University Library holds a wide selection of journals in paper and electronic formats. There are four main types of journals, meeting different needs:

Scholarship and Research:

Academically highly rated and challenging. They represent the 'cutting edge' of research and thinking in their respective fields. Usually articles are 'peer-reviewed' or 'refereed' (meaning that experts have scrutinised the articles before publication).
Example: British Educational Research Journal

Practice:

Journals that provide advice on professional practice; not held in as high regard, academically as Scholarship and Research Journals but may have the same standard of writing quality and are held in high regard by practitioners. Example: Education 3-13; Physical Education & Sport Pedagogy.

Special Interest:

Journals that cover a specific topic in education. Held in high regard for gathering research in their area and or putting ideas into practice. Also useful in raising awareness of that specific area in the political/public arenas.
Example: Support for Learning; Race Equality teaching.

Current Awareness:

Journals published on a weekly/monthly basis, providing investigations, information and comment on current issues.
Example: Times Education Supplement (TES)

Journals can be found either by using the library website Advanced Search or by selecting Journal Finder from the Digital Library menu.

If the article you are looking for is not held either electronically or in print, a copy can be obtained from the British Library as an Inter Library Loan for a fee of £2.

4. Databases for Education

Accessible via Advanced Search, selected databases index the contents of journal articles, conference reports and government papers.

Select 'Education' from the drop down subject menu. You can narrow down to specific categories such as Special Educational Needs.

Main Databases:

BEI – British Education Index

Covers over 300 education and training journals published in Britain with some English language education journals from Europe. Coverage also includes monographs, reports and conference proceedings in the Education-line collection. Full text linking is available.

ERIC – Education Resources Information Centre

More international in scope, ERIC covers over 1,000 journals in the fields of Education and related subjects. Coverage goes back to 1966.

Professional Development Collection

Links to full text articles for over 520 journals, covering everything from child health and development to cutting edge pedagogical theory.

5. Reference and Statistics

Education law:

N.B.: After the 2010 General Election, the 'Department for Children, Schools and Families' changed its name to the 'Department for Education'.

It is worth keeping in mind that policies implemented by the previous government may no longer be in force.

Government policy documents published in the last 10 years are likely to be available online from Departmental websites. These can be tracked down via Google: www.google.co.uk, select 'Pages from the UK' and give the name of the Government Department to find the document. Older documents may be held in the Library. Check the Library Quick search for details.

The screenshot shows a library search interface. At the top, there are two tabs: 'Quick Search' (selected) and 'Advanced Search'. Below the tabs is a search bar with the text 'Education Acts' entered. To the right of the search bar is a dropdown menu set to 'Any (field)' and a 'Go' button. Below the search bar is a 'Search Hints' link. Underneath, there are three search filters: 'Books, E-books and multimedia materials' (checked), 'Journal articles, research papers etc' (unchecked), and 'Newspaper Articles' (unchecked). At the bottom of the search area, there are three promotional banners: 'Database Of The Month' with a globe icon, 'ARRO Anglia Ruskin' with a green arrow icon, and 'Box of Broadcasts Record, watch, create' with a film strip icon. On the left side of the page, there is a vertical navigation menu with items like 'Opening Hours' and 'Library'. On the right side, there is a vertical navigation menu with items like 'You', 'Libr', 'My', 'To l', 'clos', 'Wh', 'Not', 'Nor', 'Di', 'No', 'Dig', 'Mo:', 'paw'.

Major speeches from Ministers from the Department for Education are available from the DfE website: www.education.gov.uk/news/speeches

An important collection is contained in:

Maclure, J.Stuart. (1986) Educational Documents: England and Wales 1816 to the present day. 5th ed. London: Methuen

Statistics

Statistical data can be found online at the National Statistics website:

www.ons.gov.uk and other links available on the University Library web site under Quick Reference.

Government statistics for education are also available via the Department for Education Research and Statistics Gateway:

www.education.gov.uk/rsgateway/index.shtml

6. Research in teaching and education.

Current research can be traced using the Library website 'Advanced Search'.

Resources include:

Index to Theses (UK)

Research in Education

Journals including: British Journal of Educational Research

Online Tutorials for locating sources of Education research at:

www.vtstutorials.co.uk/

See also the Library Web pages on research at:

www.libweb.anglia.ac.uk/others/research/research2.htm

Google Scholar covers peer-reviewed papers, theses, books, abstracts, and other scholarly literature from all broad areas of research. It is possible to login to the library website and use Google Scholar to search and link directly to the full text of journal articles where they are available at Anglia Ruskin. Additional information is available on our website at: www.libweb.anglia.ac.uk/scholar.htm

7. Resources to support school experience.

The Chelmsford site library offers a School Resources Collection (SRC). The range of materials supports the curriculum from early childhood to young adults and consists of fiction and picture books, poetry, non-fiction books, multi-media items, selected teaching schemes for reference and ideas to support lesson planning. Loan periods range from reference only for key teaching schemes through to long loan for the majority of children's books.

You can find items in the collection using the library website Quick Search and then use the Limit to option to display only those items in the School Resources Collection. There is also a reference collection of practitioner material hosted on behalf of the Essex Skills for Life Professional Development Centre.

8. Resources from other Libraries.

Books and journal articles that are not available either printed or online from any of the University Library sites may be obtained by Inter-Library Loan (I.L.L.) The form can be found by logging into the Library website and then selecting Inter-Library-Loan from the left-hand menu. There is a charge of £2 per item.

Library catalogues may be available online, for example, the Institute of Education, University of London at: www.ioe.ac.uk/services/4389.html

Other libraries may offer access to their collections provided that certain criteria are met. Check the University Library Website at:

www.libweb.anglia.ac.uk/helpdesk/others.htm for more information.

9. Help

If you need more help with your research please ask at the Enquiry Desk at your site Library or use our 'Ask Us' service www.libweb.anglia.ac.uk/askus/

If your enquiry is lengthy, you can make an appointment with a member of your subject team. You can do this through the Book A Librarian service:

www.libweb.anglia.ac.uk/bookalibrarian/index_bal.html

We can also offer seminars and workshops for small groups; please contact:

Chelmsford:

Carol McMaster: Faculty Liaison Librarian (carol.mcmaster@anglia.ac.uk)
0845 196 4643

Rebecca Mackle, Assistant Librarian (rebecca.mackle@anglia.ac.uk) 0845 196 4623.

Cambridge:

Andrew Bethune, Assistant Librarian (andrew.bethune@anglia.ac.uk)
0845 196 5022